First Lutheran To Present Luther Play

First Lutheran Church will mark the beginning of the Protestant Reformation with the presentation of a drama about Martin Luther at 5 p.m. on Sunday.

The drama will depict Luther before the Emperor Charles V, the issuance of the proclamation of Charles V denouncing Luther, and a scene in Luther's household. Members of the Walther League and the Men's Club of the church, will be participants.

James Kolb of Grace Lutheran Church, will play Martin Luther. The drama was written by Pastor Harry Smith of First Lutheran and Reece Acuff. The First Lutheran Church Choir will sing.

The church is also holding open house during this service.
