Lutheran School Employs Royuk

Ronald Royuk, 28-year-old Lutheran parochial school teacher, has accepted an offer to teach fifth and sixth grades at First Lutheran Church School, according to R. C. Richardson, superintendent of the school.

Royuk, who is presently working on his master's degree in music, graduated in 1963 from Seward College with a bachelor of science in music with a minor in geography.

He plans to finish work on his advanced degree from Western Reserve University in July and is expected to begin work at First Lutheran by Aug. 1. He moves here with his wife and their small child.

Since 1964 he has been a teacher and minister of music at Bethany Church, Parma, Ohio. Prior to that he was teacher and youth director for Shore Haven Church, Euclid, Ohio.

In addition to his teaching duties at First Lutheran, Royuk will be minister of music, which includes the jobs of church organist and director of the junior and senior choirs.

Herbert C. Wilkey is school principal and the Rev. Harry D. Smith is church pastor.

The Knoxville Journal Saturday, May 24, 1969